

The Story of 2012 & The Magdalene Project

January 10th, 2010 by Gloria Amendoal

Used with permission

<http://www.gloriaamendola.com/index.html>

2012

The date is 2012. This mysterious date has been discussed in my circles for years. We've held groups to vision quest, to move past the 2012 timeline and see what planet earth looks like. We've listened to tapes about coming earth changes. We've compared theories and asked a lot of questions. Some people are deeply concerned while others are excited. Many seem tired.

Personally I've consulted spirit guides and master teachers in my shamanic journeys and asked what will happen in 2012. Will I survive? Are there safe places on the planet? Should I sell my home and move away from the water? Is this the age of enlightenment or is it the end of time?

What I believe is – 2012 will surprise me. The celestial alignments between earth, the sun and the Milky Way have the potential to produce phenomenal occurrences. And the Venus Transit in June 2012 may be the beginning of a symphony that has waited 26,000 years to express itself.

In The Mayan Calendar and the Transformation of Consciousness, Carl Johan Calleman says that in January/February 2011, the 8th Underworld of the Mayan Calendar ends and the 9th and final one begins. (You can read more about his conclusions at <http://www.calleman.com>.)

According to Dr. Calleman, the 9th Underworld completes itself in 2011. That means what has taken about twelve years to finish in this 8th Underworld will now be completed in 10 months, give or take. Considering how fast everything is already moving, it's hard to imagine how much faster we can go. But ready or not, here it comes.

THE ALCHEMICAL WORK

With all my questions, there is one consistent answer that comes through. (Yes, I keep asking.) I've been told to do my inner work and align my vibration with love. I am repeatedly reminded by the Magdalene to clear the 7 major chakras in my energy field and offer this information to those who come to me for readings. I have been told it is imperative to get it and then transmute unprocessed, unconscious emotional patterns that no longer serve me at this time.

So many people are doing the Great Work in one form or another. We have awakened by taking transformational steps through intuitive readings, workshops, journeys, research, meditation, and travels to sacred sites worldwide.

Many of us have released old programs inside our minds and hearts. We have worked on empowerment of the self so we could understand our inherent power. And like Jesus said – that power to co-create worlds – is within us all.

TEACHERS OF OUR TIME

I have been inspired along the way by the brilliant work of so many people, both in the esoteric and transpersonal fields. Thankfully there are some excellent teachers alive at this time to help make sense of this cosmic soup. I am grateful for their courage, insights, and dedication to this conscious evolution era-2012 unfolds before my very eyes.

The Teachings of Abraham through Esther and Jerry Hicks say everything emits a vibration. The Native Americans have always believed in the inherent spirit within all things. So did Jesus. Even modern science is coming to that conclusion.

Gregg Braden has shared some amazing information over the years. (You can read more about his work at <http://www.greggbraden.com>.) I am encouraged by his science-based statements that suggest I and others of like mind can make a difference in the unified field of energy simply by focusing our attention and intention.

HEART-BASED INTELLIGENCE

Braden also focuses attention on HeartMath and their work on coherence, or consciousness. (You can read more about HeartMath at:

<http://www.bhagavandharma.org/pdf-documents/HeartMath.pdf>)

HeartMath provides “products and services that enable people to transform stress, better regulate emotional responses and harness the power of heart/brain communication.”

Harness the power of the heart/brain communication? Now that intrigues me!

THE GLOBAL CONSCIOUSNESS PROJECT

Then there's The Global Consciousness Project at Princeton University. The project is “an international, multidisciplinary collaboration of scientists, engineers, artists and others.”

They “collect data continuously from a global network of physical random number generators located in 65 host sites around the world. The archive contains more than 10 years of random data in parallel sequences of synchronized 200-bit trials every second.”

Their “purpose is to examine subtle correlations that may reflect the presence and activity of consciousness in the world.” They “predict structure in what should be random data, associated with major global events. When millions...share intentions and emotions the GCP/EKG network data show meaningful departures from expectation. This is a powerful finding based in solid science.” <http://noosphere.princeton.edu>.

This project suggests to me that our thoughts are so strong that they can be measured in ways that show they create a collective vibration that impacts our world in subtle but real ways.

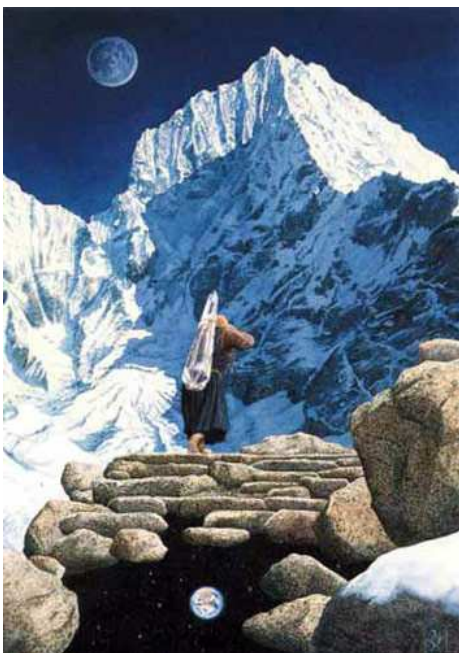

MARY MAGDALENE

If you've spent any time on my website or attended one of my workshops or conferences, you know that I have a special affinity for St. Mary Magdalene. I certainly don't believe she was a prostitute that Jesus saved from sin. My belief is more that she was the feminine counterpart of Yeshua, a master teacher and healer with incredible abilities and gifts in her own right.

Yah she got a bad rap from the church. Growing up Catholic I always knew something wasn't quite right. The body of those religious teachings seemed to have a lot of missing parts.

But my fascination and reverence for this Mary has more to do with my own personal alchemical journey. I am in awe of her impeccability and incredible heart as she guides and teaches me from the world of spirit. It has been an extraordinary 10 year saga that continues to this day.

To me, the Magdalene is all about heart. She carries a frequency of emotional understanding and emotional intelligence. And I believe she is one of a group of ascended beings who is leading the way – like a composite light body – as we make our ascent to the Aquarian Age.

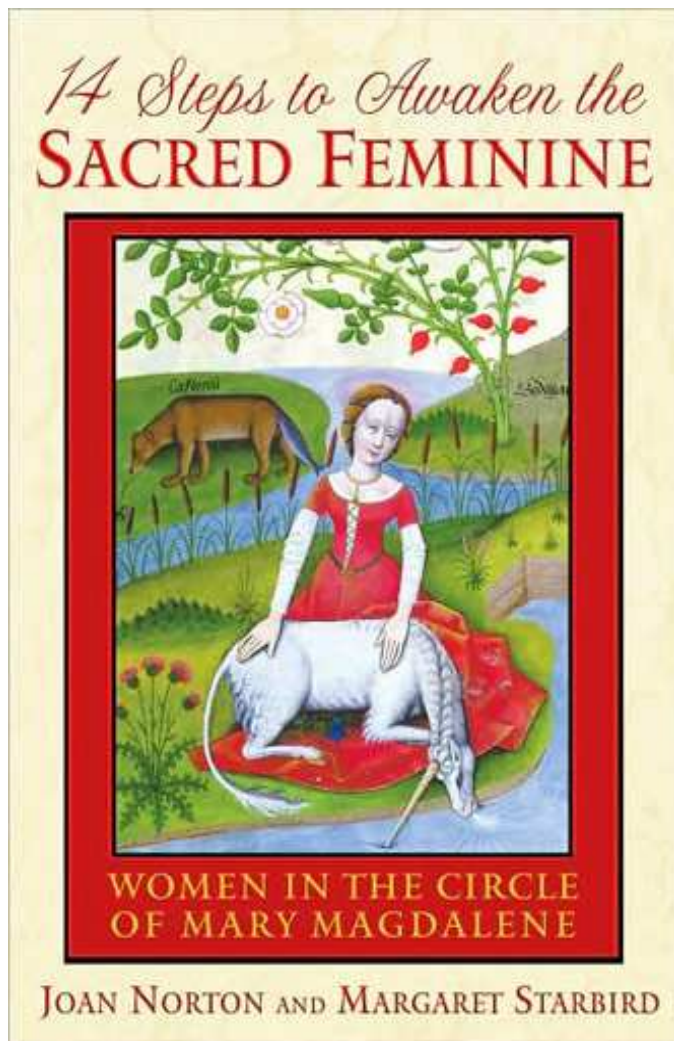

...as we make our ascent to the Aquarian Age
So what's the point? What do 2012, the alchemical work, teachers like Gregg Braden, heart-based intelligence, The Global Consciousness Project, and Mary Magdalene have in common?

They all encompass spirituality and science. Seems when the heart and brain unite to create a field of intelligence, everything has the potential for ground-breaking transformation.

“The essence of this time of prophecy is that we are living in a time of crossroads; a time of shifting world age cycles where the old world and its separation-based mentality is in the process of dying and transforming into a new world that lives and creates through our hearts.”

http://www.adishakti.org/mayan_end_times_prophecy_12-21-2012.htm.

BACKSTORY TO THE MAGDALENE PROJECT

Recently I met up with Margaret Starbird and Joan Norton at Kripalu in Massachusetts.

They recently co-wrote a book called 14 Steps to Awaken the Sacred Feminine: Women in the Circle of Mary Magdalene. Amazon offers the following synopsis about the book:

“This practical guide for inviting the wisdom of Mary Magdalene into everyday life is designed for those interested in the sacred feminine wisdom of the Goddess. Includes wisdom stories, guided meditations, journaling questions and a workbook for the spiritual pathwork of Magdalene Circles.”

Although Margaret and I only had a chance to say a brief hello, Joan and I finally met in person after talking via e-mail for years. We discussed Magdalene and our world, and spirituality and facilitating circles in Her name. Then a funny thing happened. I shared my story of the visions to gather those in the name of Mary. Joan revealed she had dreamed of just such a thing. We both got chills and wondered if this was why we finally met up in person.

Were we to join our circles and somehow grow them into something bigger – to unite for a common purpose?

I reached a turning point after watching a recent SCI FI Channel program on 2012. Although there were some interesting theories presented in this program, many in the media seem to be promoting just one outcome: Armageddon 2012.

And so The Magdalene Project was birthed on the Feast Day of Our Lady of Guadalupe – to offer a different possibility. The intention of this project is to build a rainbow bridge for people who believe that love opens doors – whether they are doorways to our higher selves, or cosmic doorways to Creation itself.

Rainbow bridge...doorways to our higher selves, or cosmic doorways to Creation itself.

It's pretty simple. It's about bringing people together to meditate on love to throw some positive vibes in this cosmic equation of change. You can participate by meditating on Sunday. Wherever you are on that day and whenever you can, the idea is to tap in and contribute by sharing the love.

Like a rose unfolds its pedals, unfold your sense of love...

Project Description:

The Magdalene Project is a weekly meditation held around the world. Its purpose is to allow our hearts to open and to send this loving energy out into the world at this time of great awakening.

Objectives:

To provide awareness and support for the planetary shift in consciousness.

To co-create a unified field of loving energy based on the heart's intelligence and power.

To imagine a more harmonious and peaceful vision of the 2012 era.

How To:

By setting aside a common day and time for meditation, we can connect people worldwide.

The meditation is held on Sundays and begins anytime after 8:00 a.m. EST. We ask that you meditate for 15 minutes or longer. During this time, if you choose, please envision a rose of any color and allow that appreciation to build inside of you. As you feel the love, let this powerful heart energy move out into the world.

“Language of the Heart”:

We want to allow the language that love speaks to express its true abundant nature.

This “language of the heart” is defined by The Magdalene Project as love, compassion, peace, understanding, intuition, acceptance, conscious co-creation, a sense of playfulness and wonder, respect, and the conscious realization that we are connected to each other, to the earth, the sky, and to the universal forces.

We believe this heart language is encoded in the cosmos – in sound, light, and in mathematical formulae. We sense it carries a universal thread of the color of love – a thread that also resides deep within the human heart.

Spreading the Word:

We can develop this project through various websites, e-mails, promotional materials, and by word of mouth. Please contact me at chalice4444@yahoo.com to find out how.

Mary Magdalene in Gorge de Galamus, Languedoc France

The qualities and energies of the divine feminine are spun into the web that transcends all time and place. All frequencies of the divine feminine seem to emanate from this matrix. Below are some associations of that matrix - of divine feminine essence - from A-Z.

A is for Astarte, she of the womb, a Mother Goddess, one who creates;
B is for blood, for new life passes through her womb and is birthed by it;
C is for clarity, for the Goddess holds the mirror of reflection for whoever seeks her;
D is for deity for the Goddess is the feminine form of God;
E is for elevation, for the divine feminine shows us how to raise our vibration using the serpent energy of kundalini, and become one with all;
F is for forgiveness, for forgiveness opens the heart chamber more fully;
G is for goddess, that we may keep repeating the word over and over until we incorporate it daily into our vocabulary, acknowledging the feminine form of divinity;
H is for Hathor, the Egyptian goddess of motherhood, beauty, and joy;
I is for Isis and Ishtar and Inanna, all goddesses of fertility;
J is for Jesus, for he got it; he understood the feminine principles and exalted them;
K is for kindness, for kindness restores hope;
L is for love, for the divine feminine embodies the power of love, especially in her body;
M is for Mary Magdalene, She who opens the doorway to the deeper mysteries;
N is for Nefertiti, Egyptian Queen, Mistress of Happiness, and wife of Akhenaten;
O is for osmosis, for when we follow the ways of the heart, everyone around us feels it;
P is for pentagram, an ancient symbol of the goddess and the planet Venus;
Q is for Quan Yin, the Asian goddess of compassion and mercy;
R is for Rhiannon, the Celtic goddess of the moon;
S is for Shakti, the Hindu mother goddess, the source of all;
T is for together, for we are all connected;
U is for universe, for the goddess is and has always been a universal consciousness;
X is the variable, the wild card, whatever you need it to be;
Y is for Yemanya, the African and Brazilian goddess of the sea; and Z is for zenith, for as celebrate the divine feminine, we can rise to greater heights.

The Goddess is our primary life force on the planet. If we utilize her love, her nurturing, and the understanding and kindness of the divine feminine within us, we will survive in one form or another. Her remembrance can return balance to our teetering world. Her awareness can change our lives, and her essence can literally transform our bodies.